Dear Cayenne subscriber:

Well, this time we got the print quality we wanted for the new format Cayenne -- but somehow managed to lose a couple of pieces of copy on the way to the printer. If it isn't one thing...!

With apologies to the authors, please note that Sue Colley's letter on page 3 should finish as follows:

can't take women's equality piece by piece, but must devise a combined strategy.
Let's not ignore the Pay Equity Movement or any other movement for that matter;
our issues are so
interrelated.

Day Care

Marie Lorenzo's review on page 27 is missing 2 lines at the bottom of the middle column:

violent confrontation and refuses to let her children go. When Greer insists, the
